

You Have Been Chosen

By Anita Pathik Law, January 15, 2012

You have been chosen, for a destiny grand Your purpose unfolding, in favor of man's...
evolving awareness, of potential and choice,
YOU are the messenger of God's dream, now given a voice.
An expression of love, that erupted into form,
pressed out from its origin, you, the individual, was born.
Not separate, or less than, or something half done.
No, you were born seeded with dreams, chosen as the ONE.
The causation is downward, not upward you know.
But into this consciousness, you must reach up to be shown.
If you think something's wrong, with your will, or intentions,
it may be more about the places towards which you are directing attention.
The mythology that rules you is that you have free will.
But the truth is you are powerless until you tap into the still...
the small voice inside you, that knows your potential,
the time has been set, the meaning eventual.
The journey is dependent on your shift in perspective.
From human to divine, is where you'll find your objective.
Instead you think, you can cause and direct,
align with your wants to receive, manifest and get.
No wonder your vision is less than THE DREAM...
The one that was seeded, sewn into your seams.

The key is elevation, of consciousness and mind.
To know that your purpose is simply Divine.
All other expressions merely distract.
Get to Know your own being, and from this place then act.
Material desires, dreamed up from the ego,
are conditioned in limitation, which is why it seems so slow.
But enter the cosmic, beyond the consciousness of the mind;
a non-ordinary level of creation you'll find.
And it is here in the mystery, Divine, beyond form
that the substance of you, was originally born.
A burst of God, pushed out of the whole,
separate you aren't, never broken nor unwhole.
What if what comes to you, as a nudge or a dream
is just divine timing busting through the seams?
An intent long created, above and beyond,
YOU are the ripple, GOD is the pond!
Dropped in like a pebble, you were meant as the motion,
of God here on earth, a sacred devotion.
The key is so simple, not a secret kept locked tight!
It is all about aligning with God's will for you, resonating with the light.
So if intentions are aligned with the cosmic intelligence,
you will know your place, your duty, and your relevance.
So let go and let's travel above and beyond...
Together we will enter, return to the pond...
Of possibility, potential, a vision resurrected!

Let go of the idea that you need some sort of protection.
Give yourself to love, the source of your creation,
and you'll finally understand this thing called manifestation!